

MYAT THUTA

FULL-STACK WEB DEVELOPER

I'm a 21-year-old full-stack web developer with over two years of hands-on experience building responsive, modern web applications in academic background. With a strong academic background in cutting-edge technologies, I thrive on solving complex challenges by applying industry best practices. I've successfully delivered both academic and personal projects from interactive dashboards to RESTful APIs and I continually broaden my skill set. I'm eager to join a dynamic tech team where I can drive innovation and help bring ambitious web products to life.

MY WORK EXPERIENCE

2024 June- August

SoftComm Technology (KMD)

Internship full-stack web developer

- I worked closely with senior developers and cross-functional teammates to architect, develop, and deploy the KMD CMS platform. I owned the project lifecycle from the initial design and prototyping stages through testing, staging, and final production rollout, ensuring timely delivery and high quality at each milestone. Here is the final product website link (<https://kmd.edu.mm/>)
- In my internship, I learned and developed software development lifecycle, database design development and programming language technologies especially (Laravel framework).
